

X-FACTOR TIRE PREPS

GENERAL INFORMATION

A NEW GENERATION IN TIRE PREPS

X-Factor Tire Preps are designed using the latest chemical technology available and blended in a controlled facility where each product is consistent from batch to batch. Our quality control procedures guarantee that the final product is high in quality, consistency, accuracy and on top of everything else a much safer product than other tire preps in the market. We use materials that are not harmful to your health or the environment. X-Factor Tire Preps are non-flammable, VOC compliant and the Hot version is biodegradable. All products are carcinogen free and do not have a foul odor. No more fooling around with crazy concoctions or garage mixes.

We have developed a simple non-confusing tire prep program that is easy to follow by simply using our three versions of X-Factor Tire Prep in Hot, Mild and Cool. The X-Factor Tire Prep line is formulated in three different variations based on conditions and desired grip and traction. Each variation is made from the same material and used in different combinations of strength and ratios to achieve our Hot, Mild and Cool series. Each type can be used independently or inter-mixed to achieve other combinations for the results you are looking to gain. These preps will stay in the tires and not dissipate over time. Hardness readings will also be more consistent over prolonged periods of time as well and not rise like most other products. After using our products you will find that setting up your tires from week to week will take less time, will take less product and save you a big chunk of money.

X-Factor Tire Preps can be used for all makes of tires synthetic and natural in compound for dirt and asphalt applications. Our line of tire preps will provide you the necessary amounts of grip, traction and bite that you desire. X-Factor Tire Prep will get heat to tires fast and will stay in the tire longer and not cause "fall off" during long runs providing you more consistent runs from lap one through the end of the race.

X-Factor Tire Preps are being used by many people in various forms of dirt and asphalt racing in karting, late models cars, sprint cars, legend cars and motorcycles. We have had our products used and tested on many different tires from Burriss, Maxxis, Firestone, to Vegas using these preps with great results and winning a lot of races.
